

BCIQ: BioCentury Online Intelligence

Put the Power of Our Team to Work for You

Since 1993, BioCentury's editorial team has relied upon its own meticulously maintained data for the accurate biopharma industry information contained in all our publications. Now, this robust research database can be your cost-effective, company-wide knowledge management solution with a subscription to BCIQ: BioCentury Online Intelligence.

BCIQ is powered and populated by the expert researchers at BioCentury who carefully verify and catalog corporate milestones, product development and fundraising events into this relational database. These data are then placed into context with fully integrated links directly to BioCentury's news and analysis in the complete BioCentury Archives, which is included in BCIQ.

BCIQ also includes stock data and financial performance modules in addition to the company, pipeline and financing data sets. BCIQ also provides management tools for each user to personalize their searches and reports.
